*The play begins on a piece of ground under a large tree.
Worm wiggles out of the ground.*

Storyteller: One day, Worm wiggled out of the ground.

Worm: (crossly)
Earth! Earth! Earth!
I'm fed up with earth for lunch!
I'm going to look for some new food.

Worm wiggles over the grass towards Rabbit.

Storyteller: Worm wiggled over the grass.

Rabbit: Hello, Worm.

Worm: Hello. Who are you?

Rabbit: I'm a rabbit.

Worm: And what do you like to eat?

Rabbit: I like eating grass.

Worm: I think I'll try some grass.

Storyteller: So Worm tried some grass.

Worm:

(pulling a face)

No, I don't like grass.
It's too chewy.

Worm meets Deer under the tree.

Storyteller: Worm wiggled along to a tree.

Deer: Hello, Worm.

Worm: Hello. Who are you?

Deer:

I'm a deer.

Worm:

And what do you like to eat?

Deer:

I like eating bark.

Worm: I think I'll try some bark.

Storyteller: So Worm tried some bark.

Worm: (pulling a face)
No, I don't like bark.
It's too hard.

Worm wiggles up the tree.

Storyteller: Worm wiggled up the tree.

Beetle: Hello, Worm.

Worm: Hello. Who are you?

Beetle:

I'm a beetle.

Worm:

And what do you like to eat?

Beetle:

I like eating leaves.

Worm: I think I'll try a leaf.

Storyteller: So Worm tried a leaf.

Worm: (pulling a face)
No, I don't like this leaf.
It's too dry.

Worm is wiggling along a twig. Bird sees him.

Storyteller: Worm wiggled along a twig.

Bird: Hello, Worm.

Worm: Hello. Who are you?

Bird:

I'm a bird.

Worm:

And what do you like to eat?

Bird:

Let's think. I like eating beetles.

Worm:

(looking upset)

Oh, no!

Beetle! Beetle! Run and hide, or else Bird will eat you!

Bird:

No, I won't.

Worm:

You won't? Why not?

Bird:

Because there's something else
I like even better than beetles.

Worm:

What's that?

Bird:

I like eating ... WORMS!

Worm:

(very scared)

Oh, no!

Worm falls off the tree.

Storyteller: Worm fell off the tree.
He landed on the earth and wiggled safely back into the ground.

Worm:

(happily)

Earth! Earth! Earth!

Yum, yum, yum.
